Travis: I had already planned to adjourn the meeting to 2pm in the afternoon to accommodate anticipated creditor participation on the call in. I will only make a case announcement at 9:30, so feel free to wait until 2pm to call in. I will take a roll of the creditors on the call, and after my direct, I will just go down the list to give each time to ask some questions. A 2004 exam is probably a good idea as I am unlikely to be able to accommodate a significant time for each creditor appearing. I have engaged a CPA that is reviewing the case data. I do not expect much $$ from the auction as most assets are leased or highly leveraged. You are welcome to file proof of claims now online <https://www.txnb.uscourts.gov/> I will cause the clerk to send out a notice to file claims after the meeting. Yes—I was advised that Mr. Hall has died. I believe a death certificate will be provided. No suggestion of death is likely to be filed since he is not the debtor.
